Brief Summary of the Unit:

This unit focuses on what success and adversity are. Students will explore what success means to them. Essential questions for this unit are: What is success; Why are some people successful; and How can I be successful? Students will understand that: success is not inherent and must be achieved; certain habits help people become high achievers; and success can be achieved despite adversity.

We will read Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone to focus on different forms of success and adversity.

In the end, students will create an exhibit about success including a biographical piece and their plans for the future. They will also write about the success and challenges of one character from the book. Lastly, students will create a personal plan for the next 1, 5, and 10 years.

Stage 2: Assessment Evidence

Performance Task:

We have been asked to create a mini-exhibit about success for a local museum. The main theme of the exhibit will be that success is a favorable or desired outcome, but you have to define success in your own way: what does success mean to you? In groups, create a list of 5-10 qualities/characteristics/habits that a successful person must possess. Once this list is created, individually, you will create a tri-fold poster to put in the exhibit. Your poster must include: your definition of success, your group's list of attributes, how you will be successful (going to college, being a mother, rich, famous, etc.) and how you are going to get there, someone who you see as successful in the same way that you want to be successful, and any adversity that you and this person have had to/will have to overcome.

Other evidence:

(quizzes, tests, academic prompts, self-assessments, etc.)

note – these are usually included where appropriate in Stage 3 as well)

Four Corners Activity

Exit Slips

Reading Comprehension Activities: Say Something, Open Mind, Open Heart, Paper Dolls, etc.

Philosophical Chairs Reflections

Venn Diagrams

Interactive Homework: Talk to a family member about what success and adversity are. Ask them if they think they are successful. Why or Why not? If they do think they are successful, how did they become successful? Do they exhibit any of the 9CHAs? If they don't consider themselves successful, how can they make their dreams/goals come true?

Reflection: Choose 1 character from the book. Discuss one way in which that character was successful. What challenges did they experience in becoming successful?

Create a 1 year, 5 year, and 10 year plan to personal success. What are your goals? What do you have to do to achieve them? What challenges might you face? How will you overcome those challenges?

Stage 3: Learning Activities

(Steps taken to get students to answer Stage 1 questions and complete performance task)

Day 1:

What is success? (For the purposes of this unit, I will use the definition from Merriam-Webster: a favorable or desired outcome.)

Survey/ Four Corners using quotes about and definitions of success.

Discussion of what success is and how studying Harry Potter will teach us more about success.

Exit Slip: What do you know about Harry Potter? How is Harry Potter successful?

Day 2:

Discuss the attributes that make someone successful. *Chalk Talk?

Nine Characteristics of High Achievers handout. Are these the only attributes? What else can we add? The 9CHA will be posted in the classroom throughout the rest of the unit, to reference back. (Harry Potter exhibits most of these characteristics. This is why, even though he experiences adversity, he is still successful. We will discuss this while reading the novel.)

What is adversity? (Adversity: a challenge, misfortune, difficulty, or distress)

Exit Slip: Does adversity equal failure? Why or why not?

Day 3:

Philosophical Chairs: Students are given a topic, question, or statement (in this case: Adversity equals failure.), and are asked to choose a position: Agree, Disagree, or Neutral/Undecided. The room is set up in a way that students can sit with others who hold the same opinion. Students write down their initial position on a card (mostly for accountability) and move to the designated part of the room. Volunteers begin discussing why they have chosen their position. As the discussion moves along, students are encouraged to move around the room when an argument has swayed the student's opinion. Students cannot sit in the Neutral/Undecided section for more than 2 speakers at a time. In the end, students will fill out the Philosophical Chairs Reflection.

Day 4-5:

Movie Clips: How did this person experience adversity? Success?

Coyote Ugly: Adam explains that he grew up an orphan and his dream was to live on his own and support himself. <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NLFssxALCkk> (Rated PG-13)

?Stand and Deliver?

?Freedom Writers?

?Sister Act 2?

?Akeelah and the Bee?

?Local military man dies in Iraq. Promises wife that all his men will come home safely. All men come home safely, except him.?

Jigsaw: Read short biographies of other people who experienced adversity, and succeeded despite that.

Which qualities of high achievers do we see in these characters/people?

Exit Slip Day 5: Tell me one time you succeeded at doing something. Did you face any challenges in making that happen? Which CHA do you have?

Interactive Homework introduced on Day 4. Due Day 10. Talk to a family member about what success and adversity are. Ask them if they think they are successful. Why or Why not? If they do think they are successful, how did they become successful? Do they exhibit any of the 9CHAs? If they don't consider themselves successful, how can they make their dreams/goals come true?

Day 6:

What adversity has Harry experienced? Intro to Harry Potter.

~ Harry is orphaned.

~ His family does not show him love/ guidance/ affection.

~ Harry is picked on and ridiculed at school.

~Always told he is worthless, no good, etc.

Book Walk: Get to know the book before reading it. Look at the front cover, back cover, title page, and table of contents.

Day 8-9:

Start vocabulary journal/word wall. Students will help maintain a word wall while keeping up with their own vocabulary journal. The vocabulary list provided has 47 words. More words can be added. I will be providing the words to my students on a chapter basis, so as not to overwhelm them.

Day 10:

Character pictures. Each student will receive 1-3 excerpts from the book that describe one of the main characters. Based on these descriptions, they must draw and color pictures of the different characters. The most accurate drawings will be displayed so students can refer back to these when reading.

Day 11:

Chapter 1: Teacher read aloud/think aloud—show how to monitor own comprehension. Stop and discuss important points.

HW: Finish reading Chapter 1. Fill out Say Something Chart.

Day 12:

Discussion: Adversity and Success in Chapter 1. How do you think your life would be different if you didn't have your parents? If you had done something to become famous when you were 1 year old? Should Dumbledore have let Harry stay with his aunt and uncle or with a wizarding family? "I've come to bring Harry to his aunt and uncle. They're the only family he has left now....Can't you see how much better off he'll be, growing up away from all that [fame] until he's ready to take it?" "He'll have that scar forever....Scars can come in handy."

Day 13:

Read chapter 2 in pairs. Answer questions to guide reading/thinking.

Successes and Challenges in the chapter.

As a group, create a comic strip of the chapter. Include at least 15 pictures, but be sure that you tell the whole story of the chapter: don't leave out any important parts.

Exit Slip: What were some challenges that your group faced? How did you successfully complete the activity?

The mirror shows us the deepest desires of our hearts.

What would you see in the mirror? Draw and color what you would see.

Write a one page reflection. Describe what you would see. Why? Is this possible/realistic? (becoming a bird is not, while becoming a singer—though difficult—is.) If it is possible, how can you achieve this? If it is not possible, what can you do instead that might help you feel like you have achieved it? Rules for Philosophical Chairs

Philosophical Chairs is a lot like a debate, only students are allowed to change positions on the topic.

- Read the topic statement.
- Decide where you stand on this topic. Do you agree, disagree, or don't really know yet?
- Write on your post-it note or index card where you stand and give at least one reason.
- When the time comes, move to the designated area of the room.
- One person from each area must share.
- While others are sharing, be respectful. Listen without talking.
- After 2-3 people have shared, students who are undecided must move to a different area.
- Students can move at any time when someone has said something to make them change their minds, but students cannot sit in the undecided section for more than 2 speakers.
- Students will have their reflection sheet to tally how many times they changed positions.
- At the end of the class, 5-15 minutes to spare, students will be given time to fill out the reflection sheet.

Success and Adversity Performance Assessment

We have been asked to create a mini-exhibit about success for a local museum. The main theme of the exhibit will be that success is a favorable or desired outcome, but you have to define success in your own way:

What does success mean to you?

In groups, create a list of 5-10 qualities/characteristics/habits that a successful person must possess. You can use some of the Nine we've been discussing, but try to think of others, too.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____
9. _____
10. _____

Individually, you will create a tri-fold poster to put in the exhibit. Your poster must include:

- your definition of success,
- your group's list of attributes,
- how you will be successful (going to college, being a mother, rich, famous, etc.),
- how you are going to get there,
- someone who you see as successful in the same way that you want to be successful, and
- any adversity that you and this person have had to/will have to overcome.
